“ Captain Quigley was the Regimental Supply Officer of the Second Marine Regiment and my "boss" while serving as a battalion supply officer in the Second Marine Regiment Camp LeJeune, NC, in 1974 and 75. It was my first assignment as a second lieutenant and he provided me a great deal of guidance during that time. He was really a good man and a really good Marine. I remember him mentioning Luzianne Coffee and wondered if he could possibly be from the New Orleans area. I am not from New Orleans originally but decided to live here after completion of my active duty to attend Tulane Business school. I have lived in New Orleans since 1976 and really wish that I had known that he lived in this area. I immediately recognized him from his photograph and remember clearly the expression on his face that I saw many a time after I had "messed up."

If possible, I would like to visit with a relative or relatives and visit his grave site.
