“ My best memories of Jimmy were his hilarious stories of thing that happened to he and his friends. No one could tell a story like Jimmy.

My brother had a way of making the crazy seem not so crazy. I'll miss his dry sense of humor and stories which make me laugh even as I write this. I'd like to think that if you were to ask him what he would change about his life, his reply woul simply be "nothing". He lived life to the fullest, surrounded by people who loved him and he loved them back.
