“ You were the best mom and you always will be the best mom to me. It's hard going home and not seeing you there but I know you're still there in spirit. I know I can still talk to you and you'll listen I will continue to talk to you everyday till my passing day and I will continue to stay strong and keep pushing forward even though it will not be easy without you. Sometimes when there was nothing to really talk about I would just let you know I loved you and I'm glad i said it as much as I could. I will miss your hugs and your kisses. I remember when I was younger I'd take naps with you and I loved it because I always felt safe besides you. Mom you're my rock my best friend and my heart. We have so many great memories together. It brings me peace knowing you're with Jesus and you can now watch over me and all of your kids and family without worrying about us anymore. You had such a great heart you put everyone before you and made sure we were always taken care of and you made sure we were always fed and had what we needed. You were a great grandmother to E'laiyah, I know she's only 8 months but you did what you could for her and I'm sorry you didnt know her long but I know you're watching over her and I will always remind her of you I always will let her know you're watching over her as she gets older I'll always let her know how great of a grandma you were to her. I love you mom and my words can't explain how much I miss you. I know that I am strong and I get it from you I keep going and never gave up because I am just like you mom and I will through time this will make me stronger. I love you mom so much ❤️
