“ Since hearing Mrs. Peggy went home to see the Lord and Mr. Jim, I have the chorus of one particular song stuck in my head. I don't know if it was her favorite song or not but many, many years ago, in the 80s, we were neighbors and Mrs. Peggy would drive carpool for us kids to school in the mornings.

I remember loving her green station wagon because it had a third row seat that faced out of the back – so that was always my seat of choice (and where the car speakers were the loudest!)

She would play this one Dion song on repeat – it was on a cassette so it would play, she would press rewind and play it again. Depending on the stop lights we'd hit, we'd listen to this song 3-4 times every morning and because of that I know every word (still) and will fondly forever associate this song with Mrs. Peggy.

Chorus:

*We'll walk with the angels
In the day of Lord
Shed no more tears, no more
In the day of the Lord
We will see Jesus
In the Day of the Lord
We will be like Him
Alive forever more*
