“ I loved my uncle, Steve. He was a unique sibling in his family. I would pick Steve up at the train station on Carrollton, and bring him to Loyola or Jesuit on Banks St in New Orleans when he arrived in town having completed one of many, varied construction or maintenance projects that the Jesuits needed his expertise on. It was providential that he left the order and found love and solace with his wonderful wife, Margaret. Steve drifted away from the Schott family but his faith in God and dedication to Margaret was all that he needed. Steve and Margaret have been reunited in heaven. God bless bit of them.

“ May our Lord Jesus bless all of his family and friends with His Peace. Brother Schott had a great influence on my salvation. I rode with him to Ann Arbor in a truck in the winter of 1968. I am thankful for him sharing his faith and love of God with me. I know he is a saint in heaven. PTL, Ronald Caruso
